Audrey Phng, who runs Asian Art Options (a consultancy providing full-scale art advisory to corporate, private and institution clients), has extensive experience developing art collections for clients including Ascendas Singapore, Bain Consulting, BHP Billiton, Credit Suisse Wealth Institute and JP Morgan. Her curatorial experience includes co-curating exhibitions at the Esplanade on the Bay and OCBC Art Space and, to be honest, is a good friend whose taste we trust (she's the one who turned us on to Su-en Wong). So who better than Ms Phng to plow through the extensive exhibits and make sense of it all for us? We got her to curate five must-see shows for Art Week.

Space of Exception

"Art week can be a very daunting experience that often leads to visual aneurysms for the uninitiated. For a more in-depth yet somewhat landing/study into this enigmatic world – as well as an opportunity to come face to face with the artist – check out Yeo Workshop's roster of and beyond lecture series (<http://us2.campaign-archive1.com/?u=e5bcb13b99ac7757c5778cd35&id=1b8f006a4e>). Join artist Ian Woo, one of the abstract artists, on Sunday, January 25 for a better understanding of contemporary art."

Watch for: The works of Indonesian artist Maryanto, who presents a fantastic solo exhibition of stunning black/white paintings and installat gallery.

Yeo Workshop @ Gilman Barracks, Jan 16 to Feb 30

P.S. Yeo Workshop happens to be next to FOST gallery, so we've just saved you an hour of your life.
